Japanese and American Stock Valuation and Financial Analysis System Tools

Japan, Tokyo – March 20, 2009 – The Japanese company, Blue Marlin Partners, Inc announced the release of the English version of " Valuation Matrix ", an online system tool which offers valuation and financial analysis solutions for more than 20,000 listed Japanese and American companies.

"Valuation Matrix" was developed by the core members of Blue Marlin Partners, which possess a vast experience in M&A deals for leading companies in Japan. The main purpose of "Valuation Matrix" is to provide investors with professional valuation services combined with an easy to use interface. As the president of Blue Marlin Partners, Inc, Yohei Yamaguchi stated when he developed the system, "the most important thing is to deliver to users more difficult content in an easy to grasp manner ". While a normal company valuation takes on average 3 hours, Valuation Matrix can calculate the corporate value in an instant. Therefore, with only one click you can calculate the corporate value and have access to a detailed financial analysis of a list of 3,000 Japanese and 20,000 American companies.

Many investors fail to achieve profit in their investment activities because they miss out on corporate value and instead concentrate on the stock price. Quoting Warren Buffett regarding his successful investment decisions, "Price is what you pay. Value is what you get." Therefore knowing the enterprise value can help investors make successful decisions which are not based only on the stock price and market fluctuations. Furthermore, in today's stock market environment, understanding the intrinsic value of a company is absolutely necessary in achieving a long term growth.

Among the many functions the service provides, the simulation function was highly appreciated by our specialized users. By changing different parameters such as sales or profit growth, you are able to calculate the corporate value by following your own presumptions.

The "Valuation Matrix" addresses to a wide range of users with different needs: Securities Companies, Consulting Companies, Accountants, Tax Accountants, Financial Planners, Companies in general and Private Investors.

In addition, "Valuation Matrix" overpasses country borders and language barriers and allows you to easily compare the company value of Japanese and American Companies.
